I confirm that I have checked the above mentioned personal data concerning accuracy and completeness in U:SPACE (<https://uspace.univie.ac.at/web/gast/home>) and that I have corrected mistakes or added missing information.

Writing a scientific paper is a fundamental part of my studies and is supposed to prove my capability of independent, thematically and methodologically correct work on a certain topic. Besides the specialist terminology, choice of methods, systematics etc., two guidelines are to be followed: the regulation concerning study law and the regulation relating to good scientific practice, which are put down in the Universities Act 2002, in the Statute governing University studies and in the University bulletin ("Mitteilungsblatt"). Any noncompliance to these guidelines will have consequences.
